

Travel Grants & Training Opportunities

PNAIRP supports the professional development of its members by providing annual grants for travel, fees and related expenses. These professional development opportunities are announced on the PNAIRP list (PNAIRP-L) and on the PNAIRP web site. Application instructions can be found on the second page.

In exchange for receiving a grant, recipients must commit to substantive sharing with the rest of the membership. This can take the form of a newsletter article, a paper summarizing the professional development activity, a “Showcase” or workshop at the next PNAIRP conference, and so forth.

Grant	Maximum Reimbursement
Professional Development Grant This award is to assist members who wish to participate in other professional development activities related to institutional research and planning. Examples include regional or national training sessions, international events related to IR, AIR (Association for Institutional Research) sponsored training such as the Summer Institute, SCUP (Society for College and University Planning) conferences, etc.	$500 Deadline to Apply: June 30th
PNAIRP Travel Grant The PNAIRP annual conference is the “don’t miss” opportunity to share with, and learn from, each other. PNAIRP members who are scheduled to present at the conference and work in the PNAIRP region are eligible for a PNAIRP travel grant. A total of $1,500 is allocated based on the number of applicants and individual applicant need.	$1,500 (divided into multiple awards) Deadline to Apply: September 30th
Best Paper Award The person receiving the Best Paper Award at the PNAIRP conference will present the paper at the next AIR Forum as well as represent the PNAIRP regional group in any discussions at the AIR forum as needed.	$2,000

Documentation is required for travel and training grant reimbursement. Eligible expenses include:

- 1) Lodging
- 2) Travel (airfare, train fare, mileage)
- 3) Conference or training registration
- 4) Meal costs

Grant requests are submitted to the Executive Committee for a vote. Awards are open to all members and based upon, but not necessarily limited to, these criteria:

- 1) Need – both financial and for the professional development activity.
- 2) Number of participants attending from the same institution.

Please submit your grant application (e-mail preferred) to the travel grant coordinator:
